REVOLUTION IN HERZEGOVINA

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Rome, Aug. 14.—Revolution has broken out in Herzegovina and Austria is now confronted with the task of fighting Russia and Serbia as well as revolt within her borders.

The Herzegovinians have secured large supplies of arms that were smuggled across the border and large numbers of them are joining the Montenegrin forces that are successfully invading Austria in co-operation with the Servians.

Most of the inhabitants of Herzegovina are Slavs whose sympathies are with Russia and Serbia in the present conflict. Since 1878 it has been under control of Austria. Mostar, its chief city, is about fifty miles from Sarajevo on which the Servians are now advancing.

FAMOUS ARENBURG CASTLE AT NAMUR AS IT WOULD LOOK UNDER FIRE.

With the German troops moving southward in the direction of Namur it is expected that within a few days one of the greatest battles of the world's history will be staged there. A report from Brussels says that the Prince of Arenburg, whose castle is located on the banks of the Meuse just below Namur, was secretly warned of the intention of the Germans to invade Belgium several weeks ago by the Kaiser himself. The prince immediately dismantled his chateau, sending all his plate, works of art, and other valuables to Germany. The layout photograph shown above gives a vivid picture of how the chateau would look under fire from the German forces. Flying overhead is a German military dirigible.

RIDDER DEFENDS GERMAN ATTITUDE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 14.—In today's issue of the Staats-Zeitung in an article over his own signature Herman Ridder, editor of the paper and one of the most prominent and influential Germans in the United States, defends Emperor William and the German empire in its war against Russia, France and England. The article is the first of a series which will present a view of the European war and its causes through German eyes.

In part Mr. Ridder writes: "I realize that it is difficult to obtain a fair idea of the real situation by reading the English printed daily New York press. I do not pretend that my viewpoint is entirely unprejudiced. My sympathies are entirely with the Germans and Austrians."

"Every Teuton knows that Germany and Austria are fighting for their very existence. It is quite clear to the German mind that this is a clash in which either the Teuton or the Slav will impose his civilization upon the greater part of Europe. The struggle has been many years in coming."

"Germany did not want war. The picture of the Kaiser as a blood-thirsty war lord is arrant nonsense. The telegrams that were exchanged between the Kaiser and the czar show how far the German emperor went to preserve the peace of Europe. Further to assume that the emperor declared war in the present instance against the will of Germany is an absurd assumption. Germany is a military nation."

"Germany whether successful or not must make terrible sacrifices and stand tremendous losses. 'This is not a war of conquest. It is not a Napoleonic war to satisfy the personal ambitions of an emperor. It is a defensive war for the German nation with their national life at stake. 'England has been jealous of Germany and her commercial triumphs for more than a generation. France has advertised her loss of Alsace and Lorraine until the whole world has accepted her sentimental attitude on this question. Russia, since her setback with Japan, has been looking westward for an outlet to the sea. It is very difficult to forecast the outcome of what may prove the greatest war in the history of mankind."

"Emperor William is a part of the national life of Germany but by no means the all important part. He means the all important part of Germany in its direct proportion to his personalism and his personal ability. Had Germany been under a Republican form of government war would have been declared just as quickly."

In his reference to Russia's desire for an outlet to the sea on the west Mr. Ridder does not overlook the fact that Russia already has an outlet of an unsatisfactory nature. Russian merchantmen of warships travelling westward from the Baltic must pass through three narrow waterways, namely the Skagerak, the Great Belt and Cattagot. These enable a foreign power easily to bottle up her commerce.

LONDON EXPECTS SECOND WATERLOO

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Aug. 14.—Smashing its way steadily forward and overwhelming by sheer weight the opposition in its path the German "war machine" is moving slowly but surely into the greatest battle of the world's history. Several opening skirmishes have been fought between the Belgians and the Germans but the main conflict will be fought with the allied armies of France and England opposed to the massive German forces. It is probable that before the main conflict takes place the Belgian army will be practically obliterated. It is bearing the brunt of the fighting now while its allies are perfecting their disposition.

The censorship at Paris and Brussels prevents the disposition of the French and British forces from becoming known. It is believed however that they are in the vicinity of Waterloo, south of Brussels, and that the great clash will come on the very field where 99 years ago Napoleon Bonaparte was crushed.

The official announcement of the appointment of Lord Roberts as commander-in-chief of all the forces of the British empire is believed to mean that he will lead the British army on the continent. Whether he will command the allied forces no one can tell.

Reports of heavy skirmishing on the Russo-German and Austro-Russian frontiers indicate that the huge eastern armies of Austria and Germany will soon be at death grips with Russia's mighty forces. The quicker this conflict begins the better it will be for the allies in the west where the main German attack is developing into a great flanking movement in Belgium which despite repeated repulses by the heroic defenders seem to threaten Antwerp and Brussels.

The Germans believe they can take the latter en route and have given up the attempt to take Liege by storm. It is believed here however that before the German armies sight Brussels they will be engaged in the most tremendous battle ever imagined.

Military and naval experts of Great Britain are agreed that the Germans committed a grave error by indiscriminately sowing the North Sea with mines. They have hampered their own shipping and checked the food supply that they might have obtained through Antwerp after taking that port.

Realization of the error they have committed is expected to cause a sudden and fierce attack on the British naval forces waiting in the North Sea. These are waiting in complete readiness for any desperate tactics by the enemy.

Cole Declared Insane.

Elmore Cole, the young railroad engineer of Derrenbacher street, who attempted suicide on Wednesday night by turning on the gas and was placed under restraint and later pronounced insane, was kept in charge of two attendants Thursday and later removed to his home. While there he became ugly and it was almost impossible to hold him. He was finally locked up. It was expected that an attendant from the Middletown state hospital would arrive during the day.

NEW YORK POOR WITHOUT FOOD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 14.—A large portion of New York's East Side today is on the verge of starvation. The big increase in food prices in the past ten days has placed even the poorest families out of the reach of the food stores. There is no relief comes to them soon many will die of starvation.

Joseph Hartigan, commissioner of weights and measures, who made an investigation of conditions in the big tenement district, said conditions there were pitiful. Not only the men but even the women and children, because of the prevailing high prices for food, are trying to get along with only one meal a day and even those meals consist of food that is of the cheapest kind.

The price of bread remains the same but the loaves are smaller, some of those being sold today being but little more than half the size of the loaves of last week. Many dealers have boosted the price of milk and ice and the babies are suffering. Meats in the ghetto are far beyond the price that the ordinary ghetto purse can pay. Eggs and butter are selling at figures from 25 to 40 per cent above those of a few days ago and most of the canned goods are above the prices of two weeks ago.

Hartigan made his report to Mayor Mitchell urging him to take some drastic action immediately for the relief of the suffering poor. The mayor turned a copy of the report over to the chairman of the committee of 136 that he appointed to investigate causes for the startling boost in food prices throughout the city.

"My investigation so far has convinced me that the food pirates taking advantage of the European situation boosted the prices here without cause," said Hartigan. "There is absolutely no excuse for the sudden boost in prices in this country and the prices must get back to normal at once and stay there."

PINE HILL JOY RIDER IN JAIL

Ray Crepan was brought to the county jail by Deputy Sheriff Fassenar of Pine Hill early this morning to await the action of the grand jury. Crepan was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Thomas Bryant of Big Indian for stealing an automobile from a garage and taking a joy ride, and after a hearing was committed to jail. Crepan was employed by Winfield Misner and entered the garage where a Buick auto owned by a summer boarder of the Rip Van Winkle House was kept and started on a joy ride. When at a point about 12 miles from Pine Hill the auto hit a large tree and was damaged greatly. A conviction of this offence means a year in state prison.

GERMAN ARMY ONLY 26 MILES FROM BRUSSELS

Belgian War Office Admits That the Germans Are at Winghe, 10 Miles East of Louvain, and Battle is Imminent.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Brussels, Aug. 14.—The Belgian war office admitted this afternoon that the German army has advanced as far as Winghe, which is only ten miles east of Louvain, on the road from Diest and that there is a likelihood that a big battle will be fought there.

Winghe is only 26 miles east of Brussels.

This admission by the war office caused so much anxiety in this city that the military authorities issued a reassuring statement saying:

"There is no need for fear since the Belgian forces gathered in the neighborhood of Louvain are capable of repulsing any German force likely to engage them."

The statement added that the reason detached bodies of Germans continue to harass villages is because they are unable to get past the allied troops who surround them.

Skirmishes were reported at a number of villages from forty to fifty miles from the capital.

DAY'S WAR NEWS AT A GLANCE

Heavy fighting near Diest, 35 held in reserve, 2,000,000 stationed miles from Antwerp. Belgians claim to have repulsed Germans. Also claim advantage at Haelen, Tilleurmont, Hasselt, Frond, Louvain and Zeelheim. NAVAL BATTLE WON BY GERMANS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Shanghai, Aug. 14.—A naval battle has been fought in the South China sea and has been won by German warships, according to reports received here.

The warships carrying many wounded and showing marks of a severe engagement limped into Hong Kong today. The reports telling of their arrival did not identify them definitely, but they are believed to be either the British cruisers Hampshire and Minatur or the French cruisers Duplex and Montcalm.

The German ships with which they are said to have engaged in battle are believed to be the cruisers Gneisenau and Scharnhorst.

Before the Recorder.

Andrew Beck of St. Remy came to town with his team on Thursday and got very drunk and unable to manage the horses. BOMBARDMENT OF LIEGE IS HEAVY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Amsterdam, Aug. 14.—A telegram from Maastricht this afternoon says that a heavy bombardment can be heard in the direction of Liege.

It is assumed that the Germans are using all their big guns against the Liege forts.

The dispatch states that the concussion is so great that the houses in Maastricht, about 20 miles distant from Liege, are shaken by the shock.

Connor, Not Palmer.

Although it was widely announced that Governor Glynn induced George M. Palmer to retire as chairman of the Democratic state committee with the understanding that he would be appointed counsel to the state workmen's compensation commission, the governor has appointed former Judge Jeremiah F. Connor of Oneida to the position. Mr. Connor has been counsel to the state conservation commission since June 18, 1913. He will assume his new duties on Monday.

Bullard Taken to Syracuse.

An officer from Syracuse came here on Thursday night and took back with him Tracy P. Bullard, who gave himself up to Policeman Reardon on Wednesday evening. Bullard confessed to robbing a cigar store of $110 and then went to New York with a woman where he spent his ill-gotten wealth. When broke, after giving the woman his last $60, he surrendered to the local police at the West Shore station. A charge of burglary will be preferred against him.

The Peace Prayer Meeting.

The attendance at the union peace prayer meeting entirely filled the chapel of the First Dutch Church Thursday evening. There were some brief remarks and many earnest prayers and the desire was generally expressed that other similar meetings might be held. The Rev. POULTRY FACTS.

CAUSE OF POULTRY DISEASE

Damp Litter Responsible for More Colds and Cases of Roup Than Extreme Low Temperature.

(By A. C. SMITH, Minnesota Experiment Station.)

The modern poultry house usually depends upon ventilation to prevent it from becoming uncomfortable from excessive humidity, which is an exceedingly difficult thing to do during a prolonged period of damp weather. Litter is usually of such material that it absorbs water readily and at such times as mentioned above becomes intolerably damp. Because of the fowl's close and constant contact, damp litter causes more colds and cases of roup than extremely low temperatures, and is on that account most damaging to

Remove the damp litter at once even though it has just been put in. No litter at all would be better than damp litter. Occasionally, one must expect to find the weather against him. Even poultry men cannot expect to find it all sunshine. Make the best of it and supply new and dry litter at a trifling cost rather than sustain big losses in fowls or egg-production—probably both.

GET MORE MONEY FOR EGGS

Much Loss Can Be Avoided by Keeping Rooster Out of Flock—Many Eggs Are Bad.

(By H. L. KEMPSTER, Missouri Experiment Station.)

Bad eggs cause Missouri farmers a loss of between three and four million dollars annually. Government experts estimate that five per cent of the eggs marketed have developed chicks and that three per cent are "rotts" due to the embryo decaying. All these losses could be avoided by keeping roosters out of the flocks, thus having only infertile eggs produced. If Missouri farmers would follow this plan, they could save one and three-fourths millions of dollars annually.

Infertile eggs produced by flocks in which there are no male birds are the only kind that can reach the consumer in good condition during the hot summer months. The only object in having a male bird in the flock is to get fertile eggs for hatching purposes. Now that the hatching season is over, the Missouri college of agriculture urges all farmers to sell off all the roosters or shut them away from the hens.

Last year in July and August nearly one-half of the eggs leaving the farms were unfit for food. The farmer, as a result, received a low price. Prevent that loss this year by getting rid of the rooster. Now is the time to act to prevent future losses.

FREE RANGE FOR THE CHICKS

Fed in Hoppers With Two Compartments—Water Given From Barrel Placed in Cool Place.

(By R. G. WEATHERSTONE.)

When incubator chickens are from eight to ten weeks old, we give them a free range, and feed them from hoppers, which are filled once a week. These hoppers have two compartments, one for the meal mixture and the other for the cracked grains. Some poultry men water their chicks only once a week. They use a good-sized barrel, fill it with water, and haul it to a shady place where it will keep cool. The barrel is fitted with a tap, which is set so as to let the water drop into a pan just fast enough to keep up the supply without waste. This plan is followed till the time for rounding up the chicks for the winter.

Hardest Fowl to Raise.

Trkeys are the hardest of all birds to raise in the brooder. Better raise them with a hen, placing about a dozen poult with each hen. The small birds cannot stand crowding, which may often be the case in the brooder.

Dry-Old Chick Business.

The dry-old chick business does not stop when the average breeding time is over; it continues until later.

Applicants for the French loan subscribed the amount forty times. France must be the ideal country in which to become strapped.

A London woman shot her eighty-year-old husband through jealousy on the theory no doubt that there's no fool like an old fool.

Three Strikes.

Certainly there is room in Chicago for three baseball pennants.—Chicago News.

Once in awhile an umpire appears who makes the fans wish a few militant suffragettes would take an interest in the game.—Washington Star.

The baseball war has not made any one any richer and has clogged the dockets of the courts. It ought to be called off.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Faultfinding should begin with oneself.

POULTRY FACTS.

CAUSE OF POULTRY DISEASE

(By A. C. SMITH, Minnesota Experiment Station.)

The modern poultry house usually depends upon ventilation to prevent it from becoming uncomfortable from excessive humidity, which is an exceedingly difficult thing to do during a prolonged period of damp weather. Litter is usually of such material that it absorbs water readily and at such times as mentioned above becomes intolerably damp. Because of the fowls' close and constant contact, damp litter causes more colds and cases of roup than extremely low temperatures, and is on that account most damaging to

Remove the damp litter at once even though it has just been put in. No litter at all would be better than damp litter. Occasionally, one must expect to find the weather against him. Even poultry men cannot expect to find it all sunshine. Make the best of it and supply new and dry litter at a trifling cost rather than sustain big losses in fowls or egg-production—probably both.

GET MORE MONEY FOR EGGS

Bad eggs cause Missouri farmers a loss of between three and four million dollars annually. Government experts estimate that five per cent of the eggs marketed have developing chickens and that three per cent are "rots" due to the embryo decaying. All those losses could be avoided by keeping roosters out of the flocks, thus having only infertile eggs produced. If Missouri farmers would follow this plan, they could save one and three-fourths millions of dollars annually.

Infertile eggs produced by flocks in which there are no male birds are the only kind that can reach the consumer in good condition during the hot summer months. The only object in having a male bird in the flock is to get fertile eggs for hatching purposes. Now that the hatching season is over, the Missouri college of agriculture urges all farmers to sell off all the roosters or shut them away from the hens.

Last year in July and August nearly one-half of the eggs leaving the farms were unfit for food. The farmer, as a result, received a low price. Prevent that loss this year by getting rid of the rooster. Now is the time to act to prevent future losses.

FREE RANGE FOR THE CHICKS

Fed in Hoppers With Two Compartments—Water Given From Barrel Placed in Cool Place.

(By R. G. WEATHERSTONE.)

When incubator chickens are from eight to ten weeks old, we give them a free range, and feed them from hoppers, which are filled once a week. These hoppers have two compartments, one for the meal mixture and the other for the cracked grains. Some poultry men water their chicks only once a week. They use a good-sized barrel, fill it with water, and haul it to a shady place where it will keep cool. The barrel is fitted with a tap, which is set so as to let the water drop into a pan just fast enough to keep up the supply without waste. This plan is followed till the time for rounding up the chicks for the winter.

Hardest Fowl to Raise.
Turkeys are the hardest of all birds to raise in the brooder. Better raise them with a hen, placing about a dozen poulters with each hen. The small birds cannot stand crowding, which may often be the case in the brooder.

Day-Old Chick Business.
The day-old chick business does not stop when the average breeding time is over; it continues until later.

BIDDING UP FOOD PRICES.

Every household in Kingston will feel the advance in prices of food-stuffs. Most keenly will it be felt in buying necessities. Those which have made the greatest advance are flour and sugar.

Apparently there is no reason for the advance in flour. Millions of pounds are at Atlantic ports or inland storehouses awaiting shipment to Europe, but with little prospect of reaching there soon. The wheat crop—one of the biggest in recent years—soon will be harvested. Unless it can be shipped to foreign ports, it will be converted into flour here.

The situation regarding sugar is somewhat different. Men whose word should be authoritative do not agree on what actual conditions are. It is stated that European agents bought up the Cuban sugar crop and also that Cuban planters are firm in holding out for higher prices; it is a fact that many Western beet sugar manufacturers have closed and boarded up their factories because of tariff revision, and then it is also stated that they had been curtailing their output before the tariff was revised. This is the canning season. Every year the extraordinary demand for refined sugar at this season causes a cramped market. Three years ago there was a temporary shortage which sent sugar up to the prices quoted today.

In addition to the causes cited, there is a condition of panic among consumers which is responsible as much as anything else for the sudden lifting of prices. The panic is like that which prevailed for a few days in England and France at the beginning of hostilities along the Belgian frontier recently. It differs from the stock market panic which prevailed at the same time. In the stock market, everyone wanted to sell their securities and prices tumbled. In the sugar panic, everyone wants to buy and prices soar. With an extraordinary demand, prices naturally go up. It is the law of supply and demand regulating the market price.

It is not unlikely that refiners and jobbers are to blame also for raising the price. The refiners are less to be blamed, however, than the jobbers. Undoubtedly there is a scarcity. The refiners are working overtime and are booked with orders for two months ahead. They cannot hoard their stock. The jobbers can corner the market to a limited extent and thus force up prices, but their concerted action would not boost the prices as high as they are now, or create the shortage which exists. How far they are responsible, if at all, will probably be disclosed by the investigation already undertaken by various civic bodies, the Department of Justice and the Department of Commerce.

Every consumer will rejoice to see the guilty punished. Jail sentences are promised for those convicted of ruthlessly taking advantage of European conditions to increase the cost of living in America. But while manufacturers, jobbers and dealers who of their own volition and in order to increase their own profits deliberately increase prices are being investigated, a measure of condemnation also should fall on the consumer who creates a panic. It is the consumer and not the manufacturer who is hoarding his sugar. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Brown, or their husbands, who become panicky upon a slight advance in prices and not only buy large supplies for themselves but advise everyone else to do likewise are creating a temporary shortage in the market which is bound to be reflected in higher prices. If the Smiths, the Joneses and the Browns all over the country do the same thing at the same time, as they seem to have been doing, they create a shortage, and a demand which the refiners cannot supply. Consequently prices will remain high until the refiners have begun to catch up with their orders. In principle, the big jobbers and middlemen who try to corner the market are not a whit more guilty than banded-together consumers who are raiding the market intending to hoard their purchases. Kingston feels the effect of sudden buying in Walla or Kalamazoo while those places feel the effect of sudden buying in Jacksonville, Florida, and Kingston.

Undoubtedly the manufacturers and big jobbers in food commodities are forcing up food prices. Nothing illustrates this more clearly than the fact that prices of teas and coffees have been advanced to the retail dealer by jobbers while big retail concerns which do their own importing have not found it necessary to raise prices.

What applies to sugar applies also to other commodities to a large extent. Imported goods have risen in price and will continue to rise because the supply has been cut off by the interruption of ocean travel, but the same interruption of traffic over the usual ocean lanes has resulted in shutting down our export trade, thus leaving our home products within our own borders.

To those who conceive government ownership or Socialism as the remedy to this condition, the answer is that no speculator intends holding perishable commodities for an extended time. Most foodstuffs are perishable; even sugar and coffee become stale. Speculators in food commodities anticipate a realization of profits upon a quick rise in market prices. When a shortage is temporary, which it should be in America on all staple foodstuffs, new crops or fresh supply from manufacturers readily brings down the prices to former levels. But the most effective way to attack high prices fictitiously maintained is to buy sparingly, so that in the absence of extraordinary demand the supply is sufficient to remove even the temporary excuse for inflated values. Panic breeds panic; common-sense and moderation overcome it.

Kingston gave an attentive ear to the suffragettes when they opened their latest campaign in town Thursday night. Undoubtedly the city will give them attention tonight and tomorrow night. After that the suffragettes are going away. Kingston has always treated strangers hospitably, and it will continue to live up to its reputation. The attention does nobody any harm and it pleases the suffragettes. Personally they are all estimable young women and the fact that they are engaged in a harmless pursuit should not deter anyone from being polite to them.

OUR CONTACTS.

But most of us meet and come fairly close to some men and women whom we feel we never would know, though associated with them forever, and a day, and closely at that. And why is it? Because these same men and women expand and grow communicative and reveal their real depths to others on the way; and the strange part of it is, there is no conscious effort on either side, just an easy and a natural unfolding.

It is easy and delightful to talk with some; to others we have nothing to say; and it is not alone that we do not want to talk and grow passing friendly, rather that they seem so far away that we cannot get at them at all. It would be just funny if it were not so strangely baffling, to find ourselves desperately trying to be natural and easy, yet saying the most perfunctory nothings that we have said many times before when with them. And always when we leave their presence it is to wonder what can be wrong with them, with us, that we can make no better connection.

Of course it all resolves itself into the fact that there is absolutely nothing in common, so there can be nothing to say when the barest trivialities have been spoken over and over again.

And again, there are the folk who just brush us the wrong way—at least that is the way we put it. But sometimes it is to wonder whether they or we are at fault. Because the consciousness of antagonism—if that is what it is—spells for nothing worse than a chance remark, perhaps, or an attitude that positively defies definition and may have had no meaning at all. But the feeling is there, and it takes a lot of will power, or something finer, to change it.

It is significant of something, however, that the self-same folk do not brush everybody else the wrong way! You know, this matter of likes and dislikes, of responsiveness and unresponsiveness, of antagonisms and sudden attractions, is more than passing strange. It emphasizes over and over again the mighty need of making allowances for all the ups and downs, the graces and disgraces of temperament. Because there is a bit of nature through it all. Not that it may not be possible and often is to break through the barrier of seeming antagonism, which may not be real at all; and not that the unresponsiveness may not be changed into something quite the reverse by the process of time, of patience or understanding; but that when there is a well-defined feeling that something is wrong with the contact it generally means that natures are pretty far apart, too far to warrant any great friendliness.

And it emphasizes one thing more—the mighty importance of being pretty sure before forming ties that last, or that ought to last, for a lifetime.

In all the uncertainties, the contradictions and the storm and stress of human relationships of one sort and another, isn't it fine and "comfy" and reassuring indeed to know that there are the faithful old "stand-bys" to whom we may talk or be silent as we will, without any feeling of restraint?

It is said that a long trip together on the sea, the land, wherever folk are minded to go, is sure to test the strength of "the tie that binds," and that those who have much or little in common will be sure to find it out in the long days of storm and of pleasant weather. Certain it is that if one has any depths that appeal to the other, the closer contacts will reveal them; and if there are any antagonisms, they are likely to creep to the surface before the journey is over. For it is the somethings that ripple away down beneath the surface that cause the likes and the dislikes to grow.

In passing, folk have a right to be glad and proud and happy when there is something in them, something strong and true and lovable, that inspires friendships that hold on down to the end, in spite of manifold shortcomings.

FRANCES SHAFFER.

LAKE KATRINE.

Lake Katrine, Aug. 14.—The regular church service was held at the Grange Hall, Lake Katrine, on Sunday evening. Dr. G. Wyckoff delivered an excellent sermon on the text, "Fight the Good Fight of Faith." He recalled many interesting experiences connected with war and drew excellent practical lessons from them. He was assisted in the services by the Episcopal rector who is camping at Lake Katrine and Mrs. Clarence Brigham presided at the piano. The regular service will be conducted by the Episcopal rector every Sunday evening during the month.

The attendance at Sunday school was not as large as usual on account of the extreme heat.

Miss Ella Osterhout of Kingston is the guest of Miss Frances and Katharine Brink.

Miss Frances Osterhout of Kingston spent Tuesday evening with her sister.

The annual lawn party which was to have been held Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Sunday school was postponed until Wednesday evening on account of the inclemency of the weather.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Freer and Mrs. David Kieffer, Mrs. Kieffer's brother, A. M. Freer, of New York City and Mrs. T. M. Brink, among the Kingston guests are Everett Blanshan, connected with The Kingston Freeman, and his wife and son, Mrs. Albert Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Kennedy and daughters, Mrs. J. Du Bois and sister, Mrs. G. T. Freer and G. T. Freer and Watson Freer.

Ralph J. Kieffer, a graduate of Rutgers, who has just completed a post graduate course at Princeton, has accepted a position with the Sprague Electric Co., of Watessing, N. J., and spent the week end at Ocean Grove with his parents.

Harry B. Myer, who was successfully operated on at Dr. Johnston's sanitarium, was able to leave on Wednesday. The wounds are healing nicely and he is gaining strength every day.

Much excitement prevailed here on Tuesday when several people saw, or believed they saw, Marquardt, the murderer, on the Esopus creek. As he was captured in Catskill at 11 o'clock this may easily have been true.

The Lake Katrine Sunday school expected to go to Poughkeepsie for their annual picnic and excursion. The date has not been definitely decided as yet.

The regular meeting of Lake Katrine Grange, No. 1,065, P. of H., will be held at the Grange Hall on Monday evening, August 17, at 8 o'clock. In the absence of the master, David Kieffer, the overseer, C. E. Davis, of Flatbush, will preside. Third and fourth degrees will be conferred.

Emanuel Metzger of Kingston, a member of the Lake Katrine Grange, spent several days at Asbury Park recently.

H. P. Carr is taking the place of his brother, Arthur Carr, in the undertaking business during A. Carr's absence on a fishing trip at Ganogaqua, Canada.

The Rivals.

M. Paderewski was asked if there was any truth in the contention that American girls studying art abroad ran grave moral risks.

"All this talk about European immorality," said M. Paderewski, "is a mistake. It's as absurd, really, as the story I've just heard about the Portland dentist."

"A young man, according to this story, was seized with a raging toothache. A friend took him to a dentist to have the tooth out. But the sufferer, after a chance look into the operating room, whispered doubtfully:

"By jove, you know, I'm afraid to let this chap tackle my teeth. He and I are rivals for the same girl's hand."

"But his friend persuaded him that his fears were absurd, so, when his turn came, the young man untied the flannel band from his face and disappeared."

"A long time passed. The man waiting outside grew restless. At last, fearing that something serious might have happened—that his friend's doubts might have been too well founded, after all—he opened the door and entered the chamber of horrors.

"What a sight met his eyes! The patient lay, pale and unconscious, in the operating chair, while with a maniacal smile the dentist bent over him, pulling tooth after tooth, and murmuring gaily as he tossed the little white ivorys in the air.

BIDDING UP FOOD PRICES.

Every household in Kingston will feel the advance in prices of foodstuffs. Most keenly will it be felt in buying necessities. Those which have made the greatest advance are flour and sugar.

Apparently there is no reason for the advance in flour. Millions of pounds are at Atlantic ports or inland storehouses awaiting shipment to Europe, but with little prospect of reaching there soon. The wheat crop—one of the biggest in recent years—soon will be harvested. Unless it can be shipped to foreign ports, it will be converted into flour here.

The situation regarding sugar is somewhat different. Men whose word should be authoritative do not agree on what actual conditions are. It is stated that European agents bought up the Cuban sugar crop and also that Cuban planters are firm in holding out for higher prices; it is a fact that many Western beet sugar manufacturers have closed and boarded up their factories because of tariff revision, and then it is also stated that they had been curtailing their output before the tariff was revised. This is the canning season. Every year the extraordinary demand for refined sugar at this season causes a cramped market. Three years ago there was a temporary shortage which sent sugar up to the prices quoted today.

In addition to the causes cited, there is a condition of panic among consumers which is responsible as much as anything else for the sudden lifting of prices. The panic is like that which prevailed for a few days in England and France at the beginning of hostilities along the Belgian frontier recently. It differs from the stock market panic which prevailed at the same time. In the stock market, everyone wanted to sell their securities and prices tumbled. In the sugar panic, everyone wants to buy and prices soar. With an extraordinary demand, prices naturally go up. It is the law of supply and demand regulating the market price.

It is not unlikely that refiners and jobbers are to blame also for raising the price. The refiners are less to be blamed, however, than the jobbers. Undoubtedly there is a scarcity. The refiners are working overtime and are booked with orders for two months ahead. They cannot hoard their stock. The jobbers can corner the market to a limited extent and thus force up prices, but their concerted action would not boost the prices as high as they are now, or create the shortage which exists. How far they are responsible, if at all, will probably be disclosed by the investigation already undertaken by various civic bodies, the Department of Justice and the Department of Commerce.

Every consumer will rejoice to see the guilty punished. Jail sentences are promised for those convicted of ruthlessly taking advantage of European conditions to increase the cost of living in America. But while manufacturers, jobbers and dealers who of their own volition and in order to increase their own profits deliberately increase prices are being investigated, a measure of condemnation also should fall on the consumer who creates a panic. It is the consumer and not the manufacturer who is hoarding his sugar. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Brown, or their husbands, who become panicky upon a slight advance in prices and not only buy more supplies for themselves but advise everyone else to do likewise are creating a temporary shortage in the market which is bound to be reflected in higher prices.

If the Smiths, the Joneses and the Browns all over the country do the same thing at the same time, as they seem to have been doing, they create a shortage, and a demand which the refiners cannot supply. Consequently prices will remain high until the refiners have begun to catch up with their orders. In principle, the big jobbers and middlemen who try to corner the market are not a whit more guilty than banded-together consumers who are raiding the market intending to hoard their purchases. Kingston feels the effect of sudden buying in Walla or Kalamazoo while those places feel the effect of sudden buying in Jacksonville, Florida, and Kingston.

illustrates this more clearly than the fact that prices of teas and coffees have been advanced to the retail dealer by jobbers while big retail concerns which do their own importing have not found it necessary to raise prices.

What applies to sugar applies also to other commodities to a large extent. Imported goods have risen in price and will continue to rise because the supply has been cut off by the interruption of ocean traffic, but the same interruption of travel over the usual ocean lanes has resulted in shutting down our export trade, thus leaving our home products within our own borders.

To those who conceive government ownership or Socialism as the remedy to this condition, the answer is that no speculator intends holding perishable commodities for an extended time. Most foodstuffs are perishable; even sugar and coffee become stale. Speculators in food commodities anticipate a realization of profits upon a quick rise in market prices. When a shortage is temporary, which it should be in America on all staple foodstuffs, new crops or fresh supply from manufacturers readily brings down the prices to former levels. But the most effective way to attack high prices fictitiously maintained is to buy sparingly, so that in the absence of extraordinary demand the supply is sufficient to remove even the temporary excuse for inflated values. Panic breeds panic; common-sense and moderation overcome it.

Kingston gave an attentive ear to the suffragettes when they opened their latest campaign in town Thursday night. Undoubtedly the city will give them attention tonight and tomorrow night. After that the suffragettes are going away. Kingston has always treated strangers hospitably, and it will continue to live up to its reputation. The attention does nobody any harm and it pleases the suffragettes. Personally they are all estimable young women and the fact that they are engaged in a harmless pursuit should not deter anyone from being polite to them.

OUR CONTACTS.

But most of us meet and come fairly close to some men and women whom we feel we never would know, though associated with them for years and a day, and closely at that. And why is it? Because these same men and women expand and grow communicative and reveal their real depths to others on the way; and the strange part of it is, there is no conscious effort on either side, just an easy and a natural unfolding.

It is easy and delightful to talk with some; to others we have nothing to say; and it is not alone that we do not want to talk and grow passing friendly, rather that they seem so far away that we cannot get at them at all. It would be just funny if it were not so strangely baffling, to find ourselves desperately trying to be natural and easy, yet saying the most perfunctory things that we have said many times before when with them. And always when we leave their presence it is to wonder what can be wrong with them, with us, that we can make no better connection.

For there is not the slightest impulse to speak out the thoughts that are deepest, only an unaccountable feeling of strangeness and superficiality; more than that, a certainty that the feeling is mutual.

Of course it all resolves itself into the fact that there is absolutely nothing in common, so there can be nothing to say when the barest trivialities have been spoken over and over again.

And again, there are the folk who just brush us the wrong way—at least that is the way we put it. Put sometimes it is to wonder whether they or we are at fault. Because the consciousness of antagonism—if that is what it is—spells from nothing worse than a chance remark, perhaps, or an attitude that positively defies definition and may have had no meaning at all. But the feeling is there, and it takes a lot of will power, or something finer, to change it.

You know, this matter of likes and dislikes, of responsiveness and unresponsiveness, of antagonisms and sudden attractions, is more than passing strange. It emphasizes over and over again the mighty need of making allowances for all the ups and downs, the graces and disgraces of temperament. Because there is a bit of nature through it all. Not that it may not be possible and often is to break through the barrier of seeming antagonism, which may not be real at all; and not that the unresponsiveness may not be changed into something quite the reverse by the process of time, of patience or understanding; but that when there is a well-defined feeling that something is wrong with the contact it generally means that natures are pretty far apart, too far to warrant any great friendliness.

In all the uncertainties, the contradictions and the storm and stress of human relationships of one sort and another, isn't it fine and "comfy" and reassuring indeed to know that there are the faithful old "stand-bys" to whom we may talk or be silent as we will, without any feeling of restraint?

It is said that a long trip together on the sea, the land, wherever folk are minded to go, is sure to test the strength of "the tie that binds," and that those who have much or little in common will be sure to find it out in the long days of storm and of pleasant weather. Certain it is that if one has any depths that appeal to the other, the closer contacts will reveal them; and if there are any antagonisms, they are likely to creep to the surface before the journey is over. For it is the somethings that ripple away down beneath the surface that cause the likes and the dislikes to grow.

In passing, folk have a right to be glad and proud and happy when there is something in them, something strong and true and lovable, that inspires friendships that hold on down to the end, in spite of manifold shortcomings.

FRANCES SHAFFER.

LAKE KATRINE.

Lake Katrine, Aug. 14.—The regular church service was held at the Grange Hall, Lake Katrine, on Sunday evening. Dr. G. Wyckoff delivered an excellent sermon on the text, "Fight the Good Fight of Faith." He recalled many interesting experiences connected with war and drew excellent practical lessons from them. He was assisted in the services by the Episcopal rector who is camping at Lake Katrine and Mrs. Clarence Brigham presided at the piano. The regular service will be conducted by the Episcopal rector every Sunday evening during the month.

The attendance at Sunday school was not as large as usual on account of the extreme heat.

Miss Ella Osterhout of Kingston is the guest of Miss Frances and Katherine Brink.

Miss Frances Osterhout of Kingston spent Tuesday evening with her sister.

The annual lawn party which was to have been held Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Sunday school was postponed until Wednesday evening on account of the inclemency of the weather.

Mr. and Mrs. David Kieffer, Mrs. Kieffer's brother, A. M. Freer, of New York City and Mrs. T. M. Brink, among the Kingston guests are Everett Blanshan, connected with the Kingston Freeman, and his wife and son, Mrs. Albert Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Kennedy and daughters, Mrs. J. Du Bois and sister, Mrs. G. T. Freer and G. T. Freer and Watson Freer.

Miss Dorothy Demarest of Bayonne, N. J., who has been the guest of Frances Brink and Hazel Newkirk, returned to her home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carr have been entertaining Helen Folant, Ruth Kennedy and Reynolds Carr from Kingston, and Clark Lyons from Ridgewood Park, New Jersey.

Ralph J. Kieffer, a graduate of Rutgers, who has just completed a post graduate course at Princeton, has accepted a position with the Sprague Electric Co., of Watessing, N. J., and spent the week end at Ocean Grove with his parents.

Harry B. Myer, who was successfully operated on at Dr. Johnston's sanitarium, was able to leave on Wednesday. The wounds are healing nicely and he is gaining strength every day.

Much excitement prevailed here on Tuesday when several people saw, or believed they saw, Marquardt, the murderer, on the Esopus creek. As he was captured in Catskill at 11 o'clock this may easily have been true.

The Lake Katrine Sunday school expect to go to Poughkeepsie for their annual picnic and excursion. The date has not been definitely decided as yet.

The regular meeting of Lake Katrine Grange, No. 1465, P. of H., will be held at the Grange Hall on Monday evening, August 17, at 8 o'clock. In the absence of the master, David Kieffer, the overseer, C. E. Davis, of Flatbush, will preside. Third and fourth degrees will be conferred.

Edward Burhans and T. M. Brink enjoyed an auto ride to Hurley one day recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley D. Hale of Kingston, are staying at the Seaside Hotel, Ocean Grove. The Misses Helen and Edith Larter, formerly of Kingston, and Miss Mauterstock are also in Ocean Grove.

Emanuel Motzger of Kingston, a member of the Lake Katrine Grange, spent several days at Asbury Park recently.

H. P. Carr is taking the place of his brother, Arthur Carr, in the undertaking business during A. Carr's absence on a fishing trip at Ganogaqua, Canada.

Jacob Kieffer celebrated his 75th birthday at his home. He received a shower of birthday postals, wishing him every happiness for the coming year.

Miss Rachel Osterhout and Mrs. Markle and granddaughter, who have been the guests of the Misses Ida and Emma Brink, have been spending some time at Ocean Grove.

Succinct.

Representative Simeon D. Fess of Ohio believes in looking for the brightest side of life; he is "strong" for optimism. His distinction between an optimist and a pessimist is apparent in the following definition which he sometimes gives:

"A pessimist," says Representative Fess, "asks 'Is there any milk in that pitcher?' But an optimist says, 'Pass the cream.'"—Washington Star.

A Fatal Defect.

The Rev. Bascom Anthony, a presiding elder of the Methodist Church in Southern Georgia, tells a story of a negro pastor down his way who failed to give satisfaction to his flock. A committee from the congregation came to him to request his resignation.

"Don't I sputify concernin' de Scriptures?"

FORT RECAPTURED BY BELGIAN TROOPS

Germans Lost 3,000 at Battle of Haelen, According to Belgian Reports—Belgian Losses Said to Have Been Slight.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Brussels, Aug. 14.—Following up their victories at Diest and Haelen, Belgian troops today recaptured the ancient fortress near the former town which had fallen into the hands of the Germans yesterday.

According to the Belgian war office the German casualties in the battle at Haelen were 3,000 dead and wounded.

German officers sacrificed their men without scruple to prevent the right wing of the German army from being beaten back.

Most of the Germans fell while crossing two bridges over the Geethe and Velpo rivers. Belgian gunners had the exact range of both structures and swept them with a deadly fire.

Piles of German dead and wounded were left upon these bridges.

Terrible carnage took place on the road from Threck to Haelen. Prussian Dragoons all along this highway were exposed to a heavy fire from Belgian mitrailleuses which were planted behind barricades. Sharpshooters picked off many soldiers.

There was further slaughter of Germans at Colfaek in the officials of the war ministry say.

Although a great number of the Belgian soldiers had never been under fire before they fought bravely. The war office statement says that "The Belgian casualties were light owing to the entrenchments which gave the defenders excellent protection."

FORT RECAPTURED BY BELGIAN TROOPS

Germans Lost 3,000 at Battle of Haelen, According to Belgian Reports—Belgian Losses Said to Have Been Slight.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Brussels, Aug. 14.—Following up their victories at Diest and Haelen, Belgian troops today recaptured the ancient fortress near the former town which had fallen into the hands of the Germans yesterday.

According to the Belgian war office the German casualties in the battle at Haelen were 3,000 dead and wounded.

German officers sacrificed their men without scruple to prevent the right wing of the German army from being beaten back.

Most of the Germans fell while crossing two bridges over the Goethe and Velpa rivers. Belgian gunners had the exact range of both structures and swept them with a deadly fire.

Piles of German dead and wounded were left upon these bridges.

Terrible carnage took place on the road from Threck to Haelen. Prussian Dragoons all along this highway were exposed to a heavy fire from Belgian mitrailleuses which were planted behind barricades. Sharpshooters picked off many soldiers.

There was further slaughter of Germans at Colfaekin the officials of the war ministry say.

Although a great number of the Belgian soldiers had never been under fire before they fought bravely. The war office statement says that "The Belgian casualties were light owing to the entrenchments which gave the defenders excellent protection."

STUNG BY CRITICISM, LAJOIE SAYS HE ALWAYS DID BEST.

Napoleon Lajoie.

Answering the insinuations that he hadn't played the best baseball of which he is capable because of ill feeling between himself and Joe Birmingham, the manager, Lajoie says: "I have always played the game the best I knew how. I have always given the best that is in me. I have never laid down in a baseball game and never intend to. If I am traded to another club, and it suits me to go, I will play to win for the team I play with."

George Inness, Jr., of Cragmoor, has brought suit in the United States district court in New York to recover $20,000 from the Federal Insurance Company of New York. The action was brought to recover on a policy of insurance on the painting "Medfield Meadows" by the artist Inness, which was valued much higher than the amount of the policy. It was accidentally destroyed last fall while in the Clausen art rooms on Madison avenue, New York. The action was originally started in supreme court in Ulster county.

Inness Sues for $20,000.

George Inness, Jr., of Cragmoor, has brought suit in the United States district court in New York to recover $20,000 from the Federal Insurance Company of New York. The action was brought to recover on a policy of insurance on the painting "Medfield Meadows" by the elder Inness, which was valued much higher than the amount of the policy. It was accidentally destroyed last fall while in the Clausen art rooms on Madison avenue, New York. The action was originally started in supreme court in Ulster county.

A camera which permits photographs to be autographed on the film at the moment the picture is taken has been sold for $300,000. Most of us would like to see a photograph of our signature worth the price of the patent.

ITALY STRIVES TO REMAIN NEUTRAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Rome, Aug. 14.—Batteries of heavy artillery are being moved northward to the French, Swiss and Austrian frontiers where the Italian government has massed 250,000 men as a precautionary measure.

Although Italy has refused to engage in the hostilities involving her colleagues in the triple alliance, Germany and Austria, war conditions prevail over the greater part of the kingdom.

Particularly in the north have war measures been adopted. Martial law prevails in all the towns along the northern border, the forts have been strengthened and all the mountain passes are under extraordinary guards.

It is reported, although I have failed to get confirmation from the war office, that mines have been placed at the Italian entrance of the famous Simplon tunnel to blow up the southern end of that magnificent work if war should come and Italy's enemies should try to make use of this passage into the country.

War in Italy at this time would be unpopular and the government is keenly aware of this state of affairs. However if hostilities were forced upon the country the government would stand in a more favorable light in the eyes of the populace than if it voluntarily went to war in support of its allies who are fighting for principles in which the Italians have no vital interest.

It is reported and there seems to be authentic ground for the belief that Italy has appealed or will appeal to the United States for support against being forced into war. Rome press announces that this phase may have something to do with the proposed trip of Ambassador Thomas Nelson Page to Washington on an "official mission."

Italy stands in this position:

It is of vital importance for her to maintain her present strength on the littoral of the Adriatic and this can only be accomplished while the territory on the eastern shores of this body of water are held by a small power or a little nation without a naval base such as Albania. It is the ambition of Austria to extend her possessions down along the Adriatic and through the Western part of the Balkans to the Aegean Sea. If Austria is victorious in the war of the nations she will probably insist upon compensation from Serbia consisting of territory which would give her more Adriatic coast and an outlet to the Aegean. At the present time Serbia touches neither of these bodies of water but Austria would have to cut through Serbia soil to reach her goals.

On the other hand if Italy had joined with Austria and the triple alliance, the country would lose territory of prestige; the government would be sunk in debt; the male populace would be ravaged and the people would be in a mood of intense hostility against King Victor Emanuel.

Food Prices Cut at Shader's Saturday Sale

Last week we made a new record in food selling for August. This was not due to our attractive values alone, because many of our prices were paralleled by other stores; but there was no assurance that the Groceries, Meats and Provisions were of as prime quality as those we sold, and the service may have been inferior. This Saturday we expect to do fully as well as we did last week. Below we give our weekly price budget. Every item has some noteworthy feature in value or otherwise, and all the items are really remarkable when one takes into consideration the rising wholesale quotations on account of the European war.

BELGIUM AND LUXEMBURG

Two Border States Figuring In Europe's War.

BOTH ARE FIGHTING FIELDS.

In Times Past Generals Chose Them as Battlefields—Napoleon Met Wellington's Great Army in Belgium. Facts About These Monarchies of Interest to the General Public—The Little Duchy, a Highway For Troops, is Ruled by the Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide and is Supposedly Neutral Territory.

BELGIUM and Luxembourg are two localities of strategic importance in the present European disturbances. Both border countries immediately concerned and are pledged to be neutral, but Germany invaded Luxembourg at the outset of hostilities, and the Kaiser's officials of state notified Belgium that she would expect like treatment. It was this militant announcement that caused Great Britain to plan to plunge into the war and to ask parliament for a war fund of $625,000,000. Belgium has been a storm center in many European wars, in few of which she was an active factor. Her plains and valleys have been chosen against her will by European generals as grounds on which to decide their quarrels by force of arms. The whole world knows it was in Belgium, at Waterloo, that Napoleon and Wellington clashed in their momentous death struggle, resulting in the shattering of the Corsican's dream.

Facts About Belgium. Belgium, a kingdom, has a total area of 11,373 square miles and a population (at the census of 1910) of 7,516,780. There are nine provinces—Antwerp, Brabant, Flanders (E. and W.), Liege, Hainaut, Limburg, Luxembourg and Namur. Brussels (with suburbs, 655,906 inhabitants) is the capital.

Other towns with over 100,000 inhabitants are Antwerp, the chief port (820,440, exclusive of suburbs); Ghent (165,149) and Liege (174,768). Its great harbor and commercial entrepot is Antwerp, a strongly fortified city on the Scheldt. The other harbors are Ostend, Neuport, Blankenberg and Zeebrugge.

French and Flemish are the joint official languages, but while French is the language of the upper classes Flemish is spoken by the majority, preponderating in Flanders, Limburg and Brabant, including Antwerp. Nearly all the inhabitants are at least nominally Roman Catholics.

Belgian Government. The Belgian constitution of 1831 jointly vests the legislative power in the king, the senate and the chamber of representatives. The 110 senators (with the exception of twenty-seven elected by the provincial councils) and 166 representatives are elected by the people, the former for eight, the latter for four years. Universal male suffrage, with plural voting up to three votes by property and educational qualifications, was introduced by the electoral law of 1894, proportional representation being secured by an act of 1900.

The united constituencies numbered 1,697,619 voters, with 2,710,851 votes

The "polders" near the coast, which are protected by dikes against floods, cover an area of 193 square miles. The highest hill, Baraque Michel, rises to a height of 2,230 feet, but the mean elevation of the whole country does not exceed 536 feet.

The principal rivers are the Scheldt (Escaut) and the Maas (Meuse). Brussels has a mean temperature of 59 degrees F. (summer, 63 degrees; winter, 37 degrees).

Antwerp is the principal fortress, and Liege and Namur are also fortified, forming "têtes-de-pont" on the line of the Meuse, which was planned as a defense against the violation of neutrality by either France or Germany. Belgium has no navy.

The army numbers 250,000 men and was ordered mobilized by Albert, king of the Belgians, when Germany invaded Belgium.

Commerce. Belgium is essentially a manufacturing country, and it is largely dependent upon foreign supplies for its food.

The mineral kingdom yields coal (1909, 23,517,550 tons), iron (1909, 205,980 tons), zinc, lead and copper.

The leading industries are collieries, quarries and metallurgy (Mons, Charleroi, Liege, Namur, Hainaut and Brabant), glass textiles (Verriers), lace (Brussels, Mechlin, Bruges, etc.), flour and starch mills, sugar, distilleries, breweries, etc.

Luxembourg In Detail. The grand duchy of Luxembourg, small though it is, has witnessed many exciting times. Its recent seizure by the Germans as a gateway to French territory was not the first time when armed outsiders dominated its fair domain. Luxembourg is one of the beauty spots of eastern Europe.

In the great continental wars of the past the martial tread of armies has frequently resounded in the hills and dales of the little duchy, and in the Napoleonic wars the French commander frequently used it as a thoroughfare northward into Prussia.

The ruler of Luxembourg is the Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide, who succeeded to the title Feb. 26, 1912. The minister of state is M. Eyschen.

Was In Old Confederation. Luxembourg is bounded by Germany, Belgium and France. It formed part of the Germanic confederation, 1815.

Belgium has a frontier of 831 miles and is bounded on the north and east by the Netherlands (268 miles), on the south and west by France (381 miles), on the east by Germany (sixty miles) and the grand duchy of Luxembourg (eighty miles), with a seaboard of forty-two miles.

The Meuse and its tributary, the Sambre, divide it into two distinct regions, that in the west being generally level and fertile, while the tableland of the Ardennes in the east, has for the most part a poor soil.

In 1867 the treaty of London declared it a neutral territory under the sovereignty of the king of the Netherlands, on whose decease, Nov. 23, 1890, it passed to the Duke of Nassau.

The area is 990 square miles. The population in 1910 was 259,889, nearly all Roman Catholics.

The principality is rich in iron ore. The revenue in 1912 was 18,096,137 francs; expenditure, 20,629,710 francs; debt, Jan. 1, 1912, 12,000,000 francs. There are 325 miles of railway.

BELGIUM AND LUXEMBURG

Two Border States Figuring In Europe's War.

BOTH ARE FIGHTING FIELDS.

In Times Past Generals Chose Them as Battlegrounds—Napoleon Met Wellington's Great Army in Belgium. Facts About These Monarchies of Interest to the General Public—The Little Duchy, a Highway For Troops, is Ruled by the Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide and is Supposedly Neutral Territory.

BELGIUM and Luxembourg are two localities of strategic importance in the present European disturbances. Both border on countries immediately concerned and are pledged to be neutral, but Germany invaded Luxembourg at the outset of hostilities, and the Kaiser's officials of state notified Belgium that she could expect like treatment.

It was this militant announcement that caused Great Britain to plan to plunge into the war and to ask parliament for a war fund of $525,000,000. Belgium has been a storm center in many European wars, in few of which she was an active factor. Her plains and valleys have been chosen against her will by European generals as grounds on which to decide their quarrels by force of arms. The whole world knows it was in Belgium, at Waterloo, that Napoleon and Wellington clashed in their momentous death struggle, resulting in the shattering of the Corsican's dream.

Facts About Belgium. Belgium, a kingdom, has a total area of 11,373 square miles and a population (at the census of 1910) of 7,516,730.

KEEPING DOWN WAR TIME PRICES AT

Planthaber's Saturdays

As a result of the European war we are facing an unparalleled advance in the prices of foodstuffs of all kinds. On many necessary articles prices have already jumped from 10 to 100 per cent, and it is predicted that these boosts will be doubled and possibly trebled within the next month if the European conflict is permitted to continue. The supply of tea and coffee is alarmingly short in this country, and prices will soar rapidly unless South American shipments are made soon. Beef, butter and sugar have taken an upward bound, but the increase is not a tribute to the war.

In this struggle, against high prices we are on the side of the consumer, persistently keeping down the cost of living to the best of our ability.

KEEPING DOWN WAR TIME PRICES AT Planthaber's Saturdays

As a result of the European war we are facing an unparalleled advance in the prices of foodstuffs of all kinds. On many necessary articles prices have already jumped from 10 to 100 per cent, and it is predicted that these boosts will be doubled and possibly trebled within the next month if the European conflict is permitted to continue. The supply of tea and coffee is alarmingly short in this country, and prices will soar rapidly unless South American shipments are made soon. Beef, butter and sugar have taken an upward bound, but the increase is not a tribute to the war. In this struggle, against high prices we are on the side of the consumer, persistently keeping down the cost of living to the best of our ability.

SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, Aug. 14.—Chris
Mathewson, the author pitcher, in a recent article stating this was an
easy year for umpires, remarked
that even his boss, John McGraw,
was "off" the arbitrators this year,
and that John was acting real
polite and refined in his attitude toward the umpires.

Quite a number of persons will be surprised to hear this. Among
those will be one John McGraw,
sometimes called "Muggsy" McGraw
and at other times "Hit-from-behind" McGraw. Some of the National League umpires will be surprised, too. To the best of their recollection, they have had to chase
John from the pastime just about as often this year as ever before. And that means they've done some considerable chasing.

Perhaps what Chris meant to im-
part to the multitude was that John
doesn't say as much to the umpires
as he used to say in dear old days
as that dead. There may be some truth in that. The umpires in late
years have come to know John.
Just as soon as they declare a Giant
out or declare the other fellow safe,
they look toward John. If they notice that he is about to open his mouth they can anticipate what is coming—to them. So they just wave
John from the pasture and thus
save their feelings from injury by
the harsh, cruel words that John
can concoct at a moment's notice.

If the article that Chris wrote
merely mentioned John's name as a party who no longer heckles the
umpires, one might have gained the
idea that Chris wrote that article
just to get a stand in with the boss.
But Chris didn't stop with lauding
John as a reformed-umpire buster.
He mentioned the names of Clarke
Griffith, the peppery leader of the Senators, and Frank Chance, the Yankee manager. He declared that
"like McGraw" they no longer cause
trouble for the umpires.

Griff is "off" the umpires—when
the police are around. At other times—well, read the dispatches
from the different towns where the Senators stage their ball games—
and where Griff stages his little
act "Taming the Umpire."
It wasn't very long ago that Griff showed how thoroughly he has
his temper under control by forfeiting a game in Philadelphia because he objected to some of the rulings by an umpire named Chill.
And it wasn't so long ago that Griff
and almost his entire team got
mixed up in a few doings in Detroit.
It wasn't so very long ago that Connie Mack, the peaceable Quaker City
resident declared that because of Griffith's actions on a ball field and
his conduct toward umpires that
"Griffith ought to be driven out of baseball."

As to Frank Chance, Chris may be partially right. Whether Chance has reformed is a question. But it's true
that he hasn't been shoofed off the
field as often as he used to be.
Among some of the reasons for this
are that he hasn't been on the field
as regularly as in the old days and
that he's now leading a way down
second division club. The Yanks,
when they get their beatings, usually
get such decisive ones that there is
no question about it—and little
chance to blame it on the umpire.
An umpire can be blamed for many
things but you can't blame him because the other fellow soaked out a triple with him when your fielder
muffs a fly ball, nor can you blame
him when your club fails to hit or falls to field and your pitchers fail
to pitch.

But of course, you can blame the umpire once in a while. When Chance presents itself Chance presents himself and diligently pursues
the business of blaming the umpire.
Added years haven't taken the sting
from his speech, and that's one of the reasons why Chance, in ratio to protests, has been chased just as often this year as he was in the old Cub days.

Concert at Rifton.

William F. Kelly's summer show will play at Rifton tonight, where they will present their comedy, "Fun
in a School Room," which will be followed by their famous minstrels.
This performance was given in High-
land a few nights ago and was a huge success in every way. It has also been given in other places and
has become well known. The cast of characters have not been changed, so
that practically those who originally
started in the company will take part tonight. A number of new specialties have been added for the presentation tonight, which include Edwin
V. Delavan, Mr. Sherer, a tenor singer, and a Norwegian boy soprano
from St. Thomas's Church of New York city. The company will go to Rifton by auto stage which will leave
the corner of Wall and North Front
streets at 7:30 sharp.

"SAME OLD BILL"
FAILED TO APPEAR

But the Racing Was So Good That
Nobody Missed Him and the Third
Day of the Fair Was a Grand Success.

Close and exciting horse racing
marked the third day of the Ulster
county fair at Ellenville on Thursday, but "The Same Old Bill" Sulzer
was not present as expected to deliver an address and thereby hangs
a tale. Those more interested in the races than in Sulzer may skip the next few paragraphs. The crowd on Thursday was considered as slightly
larger than the crowd at the fair on Wednesday and it was expected that
today would be the banner day.

Why Sulzer did not speak at the
fair is a tale that runs about as follows: Some time ago when arrangements for the fair were being talked
over and plans being made to make
it a bigger success than ever a man
named Meyerhoff, of New York city,
approached the fair officials with a proposition to furnish the free attractions at the fair for a consideration.
Mr. Meyerhoff was anxious to land
the contract and the bait he used was
the name of Sulzer, who, he said, he could secure to speak for $50. The fair officials, knowing that Sulzer
would prove a big drawing card, for
many who attended the fair said they would be glad to have the former
governor present to speak, learned
that Mr. Meyerhoff expected them to engage two other free attractions at
a very much larger consideration.
The officials after some deliberation
agreed and Mr. Meyerhoff produced
the contracts which both parties
signed. The officials learned later
that the contracts contained a substitution clause when two or three days ago Mr. Meyerhoff notified them
that Sulzer could not come and offered to send a man named Bacon in
his stead.

The fair officials, determined not
to disappoint any who attended the
fair, got in communication with Mr.
Sulzer's secretary, who informed
them that Meyerhoff had no authority
to agree to have Sulzer speak at the fair. Nothing daunted, the officials
got in touch after some difficulty
with Sulzer himself, who was in the west, and learned that he could not
come. The other free attractions
which the fair officials engaged
through Meyerhoff consist of a dog,
bear and monkey show and Patrick
and Francisco, the "haywaxen
rubes," and it must be said in all fairness that they are all that Meyer-
hoff represented them to be.

The officials of the fair after they
had heard from Sulzer decided that
as long as someone had "spilled the
eggs" in regard to the former governor's appearance that they did not want Bacon with them, and as long as they could not have Sulzer they
would accept no substitute.

No blame can be laid at the door
of the fair officials for the non-appearance of Sulzer at the fair as they used every effort to secure him after they had signed a contract with Meyerhoff, who claimed he was acting as agent for Sulzer. Whether Meyer-
hoff is to blame or not, he was paid
the amount he asked for Sulzer's appearance and that amount it is not
likely he will reimburse as his contract contained a substitution clause.

The Racing Card.

Thursday's racing card contained
three events, the 2:40 pace or trot
for a purse of $200; the 2:20 pace or trot for a purse of $250; and the
mile race for a purse of $100.
Twenty-one horses were entered in
the first race, but 15 horses were withdrawn before the race was called.
In the second race 17 horses
were entered and ten were withdrawn; in the third race six horses
were entered and two were withdrawn.

All of the races were close and exciting and some fine sport was furnished the crowd. The 2:20 race
and the name race were not finished
Thursday as it was so late after five hours had been run in each race that
the sixth and deciding heat in each
race was run off this afternoon.
There were no running races this
year.

The First Race.

In the 2:40 race some fast time
was made and the race proved a run-
away for Ruth B., a handsome bay
mare, who won the first two heats,
lost the third heat by an accident,
and won the fourth and deciding heat. Her fastest time was made in the second heat when she made the
mile in 2:22. The record for the track was said to be 2:13.

The first heat brought out six entries: Flora H., a brown mare owned
by D. B. Rumsey of Monticello; June
Review, a brown mare owned by D.
J. Normile of Oxford; Ruth B., a
brown mare owned by W. Barry of Goshen; Queen Medium, a gray mare
owned by Harry Doty of Millbrook;
Nellie Potter, a brown mare owned
by A. P. Whitmore of Port Jervis;
and Springdale, a brown gelding,
owned by L. C. Ruban of McAfee,
N. Y.

This race was a pretty one. Ruth
B. took the lead early in the race and
showed in front all the way round
the course, winning in 2:23 1/2, with Springdale second and Queen Medium third.

The second heat was another
walkaway for Ruth B. At the half mile Queen Medium led by half a head with Ruth B. close behind and
gaining slowly on the grey mare and

finished first in the time of 2:22 the
best time made in that race.

The third heat was probably the most exciting. Ruth B. was leading
at the turn when the boot on Spring-
dale broke, causing the horse to
lengthen its stride and his hoof
struck the wheel of the sulky drawn
by Ruth B., crumpling it up and
throwing the bay mare out of the
race in that heat, which was won
by Flora H. in 2:24 1/2.

The judges decided that the accident was an unavoidable one and
in the fourth and deciding heat
Ruth B. hitched to a new sulky
won in the time of 2:24.

Ruth B. won first money; Flora
H., second money; Springdale, third
money and Queen Medium fourth
money.

The summary of the race was as follows giving the position of each
horse at the finish of each heat:

Flora H.—5 4 1 3.
June Review—6 5 5 (out.)
Ruth B.—1 1 6 1.
Queen Medium—3 2 3 4.
Nellie Potter—4 6 4 (out.)
Springdale—2 3 2 2.

The Second Race.

The 2:20 pace or trot brought out
seven horses, Margaret, a brown
mare owned by W. H. Wheeler of Stamford; Krell, a brown stallion
owned by A. Horning of Newburgh;
Senorita, a brown mare owned by G.
H. Gault of Ellenville; Bert
Leonard, owned by Jacob York of Stroudsburg, Pa.; Varvanna, a brown mare owned by A. S. Coffin of Newburgh; Rolly M., owned by F.
A. Ballantine of Bernardsville, N. J.; and A. S. A., a brown gelding owned by L. C. Ruban of McAfee, N. Y.

The first heat was a pretty race.
At the half Margaret led but on the
last circuit of the track she was
over-hauled by Krell who won in the first time of 2:19 1/2 with Margaret second and Varvanna third.

In the second heat Krell led at the
half and in a pretty finish won by a head in the time of 2:20 with A. S. A.
a close second and Senorita third.

In the third heat Krell again led
but began to tire and was nosed out
by Margaret who came in first with
A. S. A. second and Krell third in the time of 2:21 1/2.

The fourth heat showed that Krell was about in and had used all
her strength to win two straight
heats and A. S. A. who was beginning to show up strong led at the
half and finished the circuit with a
big lead in the time of 2:24 1/2.
Varvanna was second, Margaret
third and Krell a bad fourth.

The fifth heat eliminated
Senorita, Bert Leonard, and Rolly M.,
who were withdrawn as they had
not been able to place for the money
and the fifth heat was fought out
between the other four horses.

In the fifth as well as the fourth
heat the drivers of A. S. A. and Varvanna worked together and managed to pocket Margaret so that she was unable to show in front. In the fifth heat A. S. A.
took the lead and led at the half
and finished the heat with a big
lead with Varvanna second. Contrary to expectations Krell finished
with a short distance ahead of Margaret. The time was 2:26 1/2.

The drivers of A. S. A. and Varvanna wanted the sixth and deciding heat run off but as it was nearly 7 o'clock the judges rightly
decided that it was too late and that
the sixth heat should be run off
on Friday afternoon. This will give Krell a good chance to finish first
if she keeps up her good work of Thursday when she won her two
heats in the fast time of 2:19 1/2 and 2:20 which was not equalled by the other horses.

The summary:
Margaret—2 5 1 3 4.
Krell—1 1 3 4 3.
Senorita—5 3 5 (out.)
Bert Leonard—6 5 5 (out.)
Varvanna—3 4 2 2.
Rolly M.—7 7 7 (out.)
A. S. A.—4 2 1 1.

The Name Race.

The name race for horses that had
not made an official mark brought
out four horses, Little Jack, a brown

In the second heat Winsome

Onward second.

The third heat was a repetition of
the second heat, Winsome Worthy
taking the lead at the half and finishing first with Bell Onward second.
The time was 2:34.

The fourth heat proved a surprise.
Winsome Worthy led at the half, but
Bell Onward by magnificent work
closed up the gap and won in the time of 2:34 1/2, with Winsome
Worthy second.

The fifth heat also proved a sur-

finished first with Winsome Worthy
second in the time of 2:34 1/2.

New York, Aug. 14.—Chris
Mathewson, the author pitcher, in a
recent article stating this was an
easy year for umpires, remarked
that even his boss, John McGraw,
was "off" the arbitrators this year,
and that John was acting real
polite and refined in his attitude
toward the umpires.

Quite a number of persons will
be surprised to hear this. Among
those will be one John McGraw,
sometimes called "Muggsy" McGraw,
and at other times "Hit-from-behind" McGraw. Some of the National League umpires will be surprised, too. To the best of their
recollection, they have had to chase
John from the pastime just about as
often this year as ever before. And
that means they've done some considerable chasing.

Perhaps what Chris meant to im-
part to the multitude was that John
doesn't say as much to the umpires
as he used to say in dear old days
that are dead. There may be some truth in that. The umpires in late
years have come to know John.
Just as soon as they declare a Giant
out or declare the other fellow safe,
they look toward John. If they
notice that he is about to open his
mouth they can anticipate what is coming—to them. So they just wave
John from the pasture and thus
save their feelings from injury by
the harsh, cruel words that John
can concoct at a moment's notice.

If the article that Chris wrote
merely mentioned John's name as a
party who no longer heckles the
umpires, one might have gained the
idea that Chris wrote that article
just to get a stand in with the boss.
But Chris didn't stop with lauding
John as a reformed-umpire buster.
He mentioned the names of Clarke
Griffith, the peppery leader of the Senators, and Frank Chance, the Yankee manager. He declared that
"like McGraw" they no longer cause
trouble for the umpires.

Griff is "off" the umpires—when
the police are around. At other
times—well, read the dispatches
from the different towns where the Senators stage their ball games—
and where Griff stages his little
act: "Taming the Umpire."
It wasn't so very long ago that Griff showed how thoroughly he has
his finger under control by forfeiting a game in Philadelphia because he objected to some of the umpires by a umpire named "Chili."
And it wasn't so long ago that Griff
and almost his entire team got
mixed up in a few doings in Detroit.
It wasn't so very long ago that Con-
nie Mack, the peaceable Quaker City
resident declared that because of Griffith's actions on a ball field and
his conduct toward umpires that
"Griffith ought to be driven out of
baseball."

As to Frank Chance, Chris may be
partially right. Whether Chance has
reformed is a question. But it's true
that he hasn't been shoofed off the
field as often as he used to be.
Among some of the reasons for this
are that he hasn't been on the field
as regularly as in the old days and
that he's now leading a way down
second division club. The Yanks,
when they get their beatings, usually
get such decisive ones that there is
no question about it—and little
chance to blame it on the umpire.

An umpire can be blamed for many
things but you can't blame him because the other fellow soaked out a triple with the bases loaded. You can't blame him when your fielder
muffs a fly ball, nor can you blame
him when your club fails to hit or
falls to field and your pitchers fail
to pitch.

But of course, you can blame the
umpire once in a while. When Chance presents itself Chance presents himself and diligently pursues
the business of blaming the umpire.

Added years haven't taken the sting
from his speech, and that's one of
the reasons why Chance, in ratio to
protests, has been chased just as
often this year as he was in the old Cub days.

Concert at Riffon.

William F. Kelly's summer show will play at Riffon tonight, where
they will present their comedy, "Fun
in a School Room," which will be followed by their famous minstrels.
This performance was given in High-
land a few nights ago and was a huge success in every way. It has also been given in other places and
has become well known. The cast of characters have not been changed, so
that practically those who originally
started in the company will take part
tonight. A number of new special-
ties have been added for the presentation tonight, which include Edwin
V. Delavan, Mr. Sherer, a tenor singer, and a Norwegian boy soprano
from St. Thomas's Church of New York city. The company will go to Riffon by auto stage which will leave
the corner of Wall and North Front
streets at 7:30 sharp.

TODAY"SAME OLD BILL"
FAILED TO APPEAR

But the Racing Was So Good That
Nobody Missed Him and the Third
Day of the Fair Was a Grand Success.

Close and exciting horse racing
marked the third day of the Ulster
county fair at Ellenville on Thurs-
day, but "The Same Old Bill" Sulzer
was not present as expected to deliver an address and thereby hangs
a tale. Those more interested in the
races than in Sulzer may skip the
next few paragraphs. The crowd on Thursday was considered as slightly
larger than the crowd at the fair on Wednesday and it was expected that
today would be the banner day.

Why Sulzer did not speak at the
fair is a tale that runs about as follows: Some time ago when arrangements for the fair were being talked
over and plans being made to make
it a bigger success than ever a man
named Meyerhoff, of New York city,
approached the fair officials with a proposal to furnish the fair attractions at the fair for a consideration.
Mr. Meyerhoff was anxious to land
the contract and the bait he used was
the name of Sulzer, who, he said, he could secure to speak for $50. The
fair officials, knowing that Sulzer
would prove a big drawing card, for
many who attended the fair said they
would be glad to have the former
governor present to speak, learned
that Mr. Meyerhoff expected them to engage two other free attractions at
a very much larger consideration.
The officials after some deliberation
agreed and Mr. Meyerhoff produced
the contracts which both parties
signed. The officials learned later
that the contracts contained a sub-
stitution clause when two or three
days ago Mr. Meyerhoff notified them
that Sulzer could not come and offered to send a man named Bacon in
his stead.

The fair officials, determined not
to disappoint any who attended the
fair, got in communication with Mr.
Sulzer's secretary, who informed
them that Meyerhoff had no authority
to agree to have Sulzer speak at the
fair. Nothing daunted, the officials
got in touch after some difficulty
with Sulzer himself, who was in the
west, and learned that he could not
come. The other free attractions
which the fair officials engaged
through Meyerhoff consist of a dog,
bear and monkey show and Patrick
and Francisco, the "haywagon rulers," and it must be said in all fairness that they are all that Meyer-
hoff represented them to be.

The officials of the fair after they
had heard from Sulzer decided that
as long as someone had "spilled the
eggs" in regard to the former governor's appearance that they did not
want Bacon with them, and as long
as they could not have Sulzer they
would accept no substitute.
No blame can be laid at the door
of the fair officials for the non-appearance of Sulzer at the fair as they
used every effort to secure him after
they had signed a contract with Meyerhoff, who claimed he was acting as agent for Sulzer. Whether Meyer-
hoff is to blame or not, he was paid
the amount he asked for Sulzer's appearance and that amount it is not
likely he will reimburse as his contract contained a substitution clause.

The Racing Card.

Thursday's racing card contained
three events, the 2:40 pace or trot
for a purse of $200; the 2:20 pace or
trot for a purse of $250; and the name race for a purse of $100.
Twenty-one horses were entered in
the first race, but 15 horses were
withdrawn before the race was called.
In the second race 17 horses
were entered and ten were with-
drawn; in the third race six horses
were entered and two were withdrawn.

All of the races were close and exciting and some fine sport was furnished the crowd. The 2:30 race
and the name race were not finished
Thursday as it was so late after five
heats had been run in each race that
the sixth and deciding heat in each
race was run off this afternoon.
year.

The First Race.

In the 2:40 race some fast time
was made and the race proved a run-
away for Ruth B., a handsome bay
mare, who won the first two heats,
lost the third heat by an accident,
and won the fourth and deciding
heat. Her fastest time was made in
the second heat when she made the
mile in 2:22. The record for the
track was said to be 2:13.

The first heat brought out six entries: Flora H., a brown mare owned
by D. B. Runsey of Monticello; June
Review, a brown mare owned by D.
J. Normile of Oxford; Ruth B., a
brown mare owned by W. Barry of Goshen; Queen Medium, a gray mare
owned by Harry Doty of Millbrook;
Nellie Potter, a brown mare owned
by A. P. Whitmore of Port Jervis;
and Springdale, a brown gelding
owned by L. C. Ruban of McAfee,
N. J.

This race was a pretty one. Ruth
B. took the lead early in the race and
showed in front all the way round
the course, winning in 2:23 1/4, with Springdale second and Queen Medium
third.

The second heat was another
walkaway for Ruth B. At the half
mile Queen Medium led by half a
head with Ruth B. close behind and
gaining slowly on the grey mare and

finished first in the time of 2:22 the
best time made in that race.

The third heat was probably the most exciting. Ruth B. was leading
at the turn when the boot on Spring-
dale broke, causing the horse to
lengthen its stride and his hoof
struck the wheel of the sulky drawn
by Ruth B., crumpling it up and
throwing the bay mare out of the
race in that heat, which was won
by Flora H. in 2:24 1/4.

The judges decided that the accident was an unavoidable one and
in the fourth and deciding heat
Ruth B. hitched to a new sulky
won in the time of 2:24.

Ruth B. won first money; Flora
H., second money; Springdale third
money and Queen Medium fourth
money.

The summary of the race was as follows giving the position of each
horse at the finish of each heat:

Flora H.—5 4 1 3.
June Review—6 5 5 (out).
Ruth B.—1 1 6 1.
Queen Medium—3 2 3 4.
Nellie Potter—4 6 4 (out).
Springdale—2 3 2 2.

The 2:20 pace or trot brought out
seven horses, Margaret, a brown
mare owned by W. H. Wheeler of Stamford; Krell, a brown stallion
owned by A. Horning of Newburgh;
Senorita, a brown mare owned by G.
H. Galbraith of Ellenville; Bert
Leonard, owned by Jacob York of Stroudsburg, Pa.; Varwanna, a brown mare owned by A. S. Coffin of Newburgh; Rolly M., owned by F.
A. Ballantine of Bernardsville, N.
J.; A. S. A., a brown gelding owned by L. C. Ruban of McAfee, N. J.

The first heat was a pretty race.
At the half Margaret led but on the
last circuit of the track she was
over-hauled by Krell who won in the fast time of 2:19 1/4 with Margaret second and Varwanna third.

In the second heat Krell led at the
half and in a pretty finish won by a head in the time of 2:20 with A. S.
A. a close second and Senorita
third.

In the third heat Krell again led
but began to tire and was nosed out
by Margaret who came in first with
A. S. A. second and Krell third in
the time of 2:21 1/4.

The fourth heat showed that Krell was about in and had used all
her strength to win two straight
heats and A. S. A. who was beginning to show up strong led at the
half and finished the circuit with a
big lead in the time of 2:24 1/4.
Varwanna was second, Margaret
third and Krell a bad fourth.

The fourth heat eliminated
Senorita, Bert Leonard, and Rolly M.,
who were withdrawn as they had
not been able to place for the money
and the fifth heat was fought out
between the other four horses.

In the fifth as well as the fourth
heat the drivers of A. S. A. and Varwanna worked together and managed to pocket Margaret so that she was unable to show in front. In the fifth heat A. S. A.
took the lead and led at the half
and finished the heat with a big
lead with Varwanna second. Contrary to expectations Krell finished third a short distance ahead of Margaret. The time was 2:26 1/4.

The drivers of A. S. A. and Varwanna wanted the sixth and deciding heat run off but as it was
nearly 7 o'clock the judges rightly
decided that it was too late and that
the sixth heat should be run off
on Friday afternoon. This will give Krell a good chance to finish first
if she keeps up her good work of Thursday when she won her two
heats in the fast time of 2:19 1/4 and 2:20 which was not equalled by the
other horses.

The summary:
Margaret—2 5 1 3 4.
Krell—1 1 3 4 3.
Senorita—5 3 5 (out).
Bert Leonard—6 5 5 (out).
Varwanna—3 4 4 2 2.
Rolly M.—7 7 7 (out).
A. S. A.—4 2 2 1 1.

The Name Race.

The name race for horses that had
not made an official mark brought
out four horses, Little Jack, a brown
gelding owned by John Burison of Ellenville; Billy Dodge, a brown gelding owned by Simon Oushner of Napaneoch; Bell Onward, a brown mare owned by Jewel Sheeley of Napaneoch; and Winsome Worthy, owned by Fred Brink of Stone Ridge.
The first three horses were driven by their owners and Winsome Worthy was driven by John Wynkoop. Winsome Worthy ran the race under protest from the other drivers who objected to her being allowed to run, claiming that she had a mark. The other horses in the race had no official mark and were what is known
in racing circles as "green" horses,
it being their first official race.

The first heat was a pretty contest
between Bell Onward and Winsome Worthy, the first horse leading at the half and finishing first with Winsome Worthy second in the time of 2:33 1/4.

In the second heat Winsome
Worthy led in the half and in a pretty finish led the others under the wire
in the time of 2:37 with Bell
Onward second.

The third heat was a repetition of
the second heat, Winsome Worthy
taking the lead at the half and finishing first with Bell Onward second.
The time was 2:34.

The fourth heat proved a surprise.
Winsome Worthy led at the half, but
Bell Onward by magnificent work
closed up the gap and won in the
time of 2:34 1/2, with Winsome
Worthy second.

The fifth heat also proved a surprise, Billy Dodge, who had been running fourth in the other two heats,
finished first with Winsome Worthy
second in the time of 2:34 1/2.
